Suspect arraigned in local murder

By Terry Wright

During arraignment proceedings, Richard Peter Marsack, 43, of Gaylord demanded preliminary examination on the charges of murdering Terry V. Barr. Standing before 83rd District Court Judge Francis Walsh, Marsack's wishes were entered by his court appointed attorney, William Carey.

Judge Walsh explained to Marsack that the charge of murder in the first degree carries a mandatory sentence of life imprisonment, and that he was entitled, if he so wished, to a preliminary examination within twelve days in Circuit Court to the charges brought against him by the People of the State of Michigan. If he waived his right to preliminary examination, he would be bound over to Circuit Court for trial by jury.

Marsack's exam has been set for 1 p.m. on Tuesday, July 27, at the Crawford County Courthouse. Judge Walsh chose to deny bail and Marsack is currently being held in the Crawford County Jail.

Marsack is charged with the shotgun slaying of Barr, his Michigan Department of Natural Resources supervisor, on Tuesday, July 13. He was arrested on a warrant issued by the Crawford County Prosecutor on Thursday, July 15, at Detroit Metropolitan Airport as he exited a Northwest Airlines flight from Traverse City.

Crawford County Sheriff David Lovely said the arrest was made possible due to the combined and continual efforts of the Crawford County Sheriff Department, Michigan State Police, the MSP Forensic Laboratory in Grayling, and the Michigan Department of Natural Resources.

Marsack had worked for the DNR since April, 1979. His current position was as a water sites operator, which involves construction and maintenance of public access sites. He is married and reportedly has two children. Attempts to reach his family were unsuccessful.

"He [Terry Barr] was on his way to work," a friend of Barr's said. "He stopped to remove a tree from across the road and he was shot." The slaying took place on Wilcox Bridge Road about 30 feet north of the intersection with the Lewiston Grade.

Crawford County Prosecutor John Huss confirmed that Barr was the victim of one .12 gauge shotgun wound in his back.

Barr's house, one-half mile from the scene of his murder, was gutted by fire on July 4. That incident remains under investigation.

The friend said he was also acquainted with Marsack. "I knew the suspect. I thought he was a kind, gentle man but I have heard since that he did have fits of rage. Sometimes it doesn't take much to set somebody off."

On July 2, 1967, Marsack turned himself in to the Roscommon County Sheriff Department saying, "I just shot a man." He was later convicted by a jury of the manslaughter death of Roger I. Hartman of South Branch Township and was sentenced to 5-15 years in the

Landfill hearing draws fire from residents

By Terry Wright

About 35 residents of northeast Michigan attended the Northeast Michigan Council of Governments (NEMCOG) solid waste management committee meeting on Wednesday, July 14. The majority of those spoke against the proposed amendment to the Crawford County solid waste management plan that would add nine more counties to the 17 that currently can bring their waste to Crawford County.

The NEMCOG committee met in Grayling to discuss the public input they had received concerning the proposed amendment and to make a recommendation to either accept or reject the amendment to the Crawford County Board of Commissioners. The committee is comprised of representatives from the eight counties of northeast Michigan that make up the NEMCOG area. A quorum of members was not present so no decision could be made, but discussion between the committee and the audience continued.

City Environmental Services (CES) had requested the amendment to allow it to bring more waste into its landfill, located in northern Crawford County.

The prevailing concern was that state-of-the-art technology in landfill cell liners is not environmentally safe. John Mahan of Northern Michigan Citizens for a Safe Environment said,

"What possible justice can there be for needlessly increasing the health risks of the residents of Crawford County? To put all the risk on Crawford County while decreasing the risks of the other counties does not make sense."

There was much discussion about the monetary need for CES to bring in more waste than they are already hauling into the landfill.

"How much profit is enough?" asked one citizen.

Steve Balagna of CES answered that the company is not making much of a profit. He explained that two other landfills in northern Michigan are in similar situations and are currently asking their host counties to increase their management plans to enable them to make a profit.

Several members of the NEMCOG committee emphasized that they can act only in an advisory capacity and citizens should take further concerns to their local units of government, which have the final say in the amendment.

Citizens countered by saying, "Your recommendation carries a lot of weight, so we want it to be favorable to our concerns."

The meeting lasted about one and one-half hours. It was adjourned with the hope expressed that a quorum would be present at the next meeting, to be held on Tuesday, August 3, at 7 p.m. in the Crawford County Courthouse.

At 68, Al Widing still looking for 1st Marathon victory

By Terry Wright

Lean and muscular, Al Widing is in near perfect physical condition, achieved through hours and hours of hard work and exercise building homes and racing canoes. That is not unusual; there are many men who build houses and in Grayling, racing is the official sport. But Al Widing is different. He is 68 years old.

Al said he entered his first AuSable Marathon in 1953 and through the years has been in more than any other participant. In the early years, Al paddled with his brother Roy. Their first canoe was white and they always wore white shirts. Later, they switched to a black canoe and wore only black.

For many years they raced all over the country, winning many races, but were never able to place higher than 2nd in the Marathon. Those were the Marathon years dominated by the great teams of Feldhauser and Fowler, Sawyer and Wagner, and Kolonich and Kendell. In the '60s, Sawyer teamed with several partners to continue his dominance of the race and in the '70s, teams such as the Kelloggs, the Petersons, and Robillard and Corbin won the race. The decade of the '80s, belonged to the Stocktons.

Al Widing has raced against them all, but he has yet to win his first AuSable Marathon. "We used to beat most of those guys in the shorter races," he said. "But in the Marathon, the best I've done is 2nd. I've done that five times."

This Saturday night Al will try it again in the 46th AuSable Canoe Marathon. His partner now is Fritz Lamm, 21, of Clarkston. Brother Roy retired from racing long ago. "Roy and I took our canoes on vacation last year and it was the first time he'd been in a canoe in 30 years," Al said.

Al and Fritz competed in the General Clinton Regatta, in New York, earlier this year and are planning to race in Le Classique de Canots in Shawinigan, Quebec, later this summer.

When asked about the racers of today versus the racers of the early years, Al replied, "I don't think the racers today are any better than they used to be but the equipment is so much better. It's very high-tech; that's what makes the difference."

Today, Al is retired from building and has moved from his home in Holly to Mio where he lives on the banks of the AuSable. For many years his wife was part of his racing team, but now she too has retired. "She followed every race for 20 years," he said. "Now she just sends me on my way."

Although Al said he is always in it to win, he doesn't give himself much of a chance to finish 1st this year. "I just like to do it. As long as my health is

School board seeks applicants for vacancy

The Crawford AuSable School District is seeking applications to fill the position of Christopher Dunckley, member of the Board of Education, who will resign on August 9.

The new board member will be appointed only through the 1993-94 school year. In the annual election in June, 1994, the position will be placed on the ballot for a four-year term.

Dunckley resigned in order to assume the position of Grayling High School girls' junior varsity basketball coach. By law, employees of a school district cannot serve on its board of education.

Applications are available in the CASD Central Office at 403 Michigan Avenue. They must be returned by Wednesday, July 28, at 4 p.m.

MILLIKIN SWORN IN—Floyd Millikin takes the oath of office from Sandy Moore of the Crawford County Clerk's office

Millikin named to county road commission post

By Terry Wright

Floyd Millikin, 49, was sworn in as a member of the Crawford County Road Commission on Thursday, July 15. Millikin was chosen from a field of applicants by the Crawford County Board of Commissioners to fill a vacancy created by the death of long-time road commissioner Clyde Anthony. Millikin assumed his position minutes after the swearing-in ceremony at the regularly scheduled meeting of the road commission.

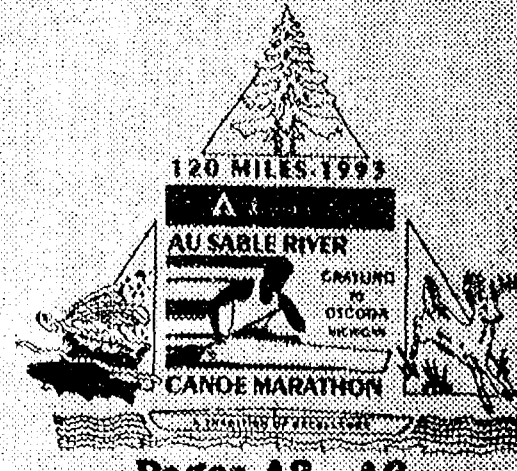

Millikin is a life-long resident of Crawford County and a 1961 graduate of Grayling High School. He and his wife Penny (Pettyjohn), have two children and two grandchildren.

In 1990, Millikin retired from the Michigan State Police after a 25-year career in which he attained the rank of Sergeant II (shift commander). Prior to becoming a state trooper, he worked for LeRoy Millikin Excavating as an equipment operator. Since his retirement, he has started his own excavating business. "My experience in excavating should help the most, when the county has to purchase or repair equipment. I am familiar with those costs," said Millikin.

He is a past president of the Grayling Lions Club, current president of the Grayling High School Alumni Association, member of the Grayling Masonic Lodge 356 F&AM, and a member of the AuSable Shrine Club.

WRIGHT ANGLES

by Terry Wright

Before the first jackpine or fern, before the first whitetail or black bear, before the first brown or rainbow trout, and long before the first man, there was only ice.

The year 13007 B.C. was very significant for what is now Crawford County. The glacier, in places a half-mile thick, that had surged and retreated and surged again through the area scraping and pushing billions of tons of dirt, was now beginning to melt. The arctic temperatures that had formed the glacier with their constant snows were slowly on the rise.

As the point of the glacier receded hundreds of miles to the south, leaving rich soils, deep lakes, and high hills in its wake, its slow but steady decline gave birth to dry fungi and ferns on land and a myriad of microscopic plant and animal life in the cool waters.

In what would later be known as Crawford County, the first drip.... drip....drip....of melting ice ran to the ground, forming a tiny pool that shimmered in the still rare moments of sunlight. As the days grew warmer, the pool grew larger, overflowing its shallow banks to trickle and meander its way along, seeking always the lowest route of escape.

When the glacial point was well north of the little stream, the land abounded in plant and animal life. First, came tiny plants and flowers, their roots healthy in the moist soil. Later, in drier soil, the first trees sprang up. Jackpines flourished in the deep sand; white pines reached high for the sunlight. Ancient giant beavers, well at home in the frigid waters, moved into the area and thrived. Mastodons and wild hogs ventured through searching for food.

The tiny trickle of water was now a raging torrent, fed from glacial run-off washing down from the north and from giant bubbling springs deep within the earth. Its icy waters ran milky white as they tossed and tumbled and frothed their way downhill, seeking a place to rest. Thus, the river ran for a thousand years or more.

By 5000 B.C., having finished the job that it had come to do, the glacier was gone, having retreated to its northernmost point high above the Arctic Circle to lie dormant until its next call from nature.

The river had aged from an inquisitive child, through adolescent temper tantrums, to a young and solid adult. Strong but serene, it performed its task of carrying water gently from its source in the highlands to empty into the great reservoir at its end.

It was at about this time that the first man came upon the river. Its clear, cool waters quenched his thirst and fed him with fresh fish and wild game and berries which flourished along its banks. For many years he, and his people made their homes on or near the river and enjoyed its rich bounty. But as time passed, man eventually moved on and for hundreds of years more, only an occasional passer-by interrupted the solitude of the ever-flowing river.

Less than two hundred years ago, the river began its relationship with what can be called modern man. First, the trappers and hunters came to the river; later, rugged men with axes showed up in droves, cutting every tree and laying bare the earth behind them. They clogged the river, now known as the AuSable, with the skeletons of millions of proud trees, and sent them shooting down the river to sawmills belching smoke and steam along its banks in villages and towns that shot up, seemingly overnight. They caught the beautiful fish from within its waters until there were no more. They killed the game which lived in peace beside it. They changed the river's body from that of a young sturdy adult to the sagging decline of middle age.

By that time, men were traversing up and down the waters of the river in boats and canoes. They all but owned the once majestic river.

In the first half of this century, man succeeded in his total domination of the river by building a series of dams to restrict and direct the river's flow. No longer did the river flow freely, guided only by the forces of nature.

Today, day in and day out, the AuSable is an obedient servant of the thousands of people who use it for personal gain or pleasure. And although it is now stocked with beautiful fish, and many species of game are allowed to live on its banks under the watchful eye of public authorities, it is still only a shadow of its former self.

No longer is it strong; no longer does it challenge all who approach; no longer does it dominate all it encounters....except once a year, for 15 short hours when it gathers all the strength that it can muster to beat those who would seek to conquer it into total and complete submission.

Each year, in the heat of summer, the AuSable takes on all who dare to challenge, and each year it leaves the best and the strongest of men and women bleeding and bruised. This is the glory of the AuSable Marathon. It has never been, nor will ever be, one man against another, but rather all men against the proud and powerful river. And that is what makes the Marathon one of the world's greatest competitions.

CRAWFORD COUNTY AVALANCHE

Special pull-out section

Thursday, July 22, 1993

The $46,000 Weyerhaeuser AuSable River Canoe Marathon on Saturday, July 24, is the toughest, richest, longest, non-stop canoe race in North America. It has also been called North America's "toughest spectator race." Thousands of spectators and supporters start with the race in Grayling and hopscotch to viewing points along the fabled AuSable River course all the way to Oscoda, 100 road miles and 15 hours or more away.

The Marathon excitement starts with the Sprints For Position to be held Friday afternoon, July 23, at 2 p.m. at Penrod's Canoe Livery in Grayling. The sprints are much like Indy car qualifying. Each team paddles a short looped course, and the lap time determines their starting position for the Marathon's unique LeMan's-style start.

The run to the river begins at 9 p.m. on Saturday, July 24, to Ray's Canoe Livery where over 45 teams are expected to compete this year. The action continues non-stop down the AuSable River to Oscoda, 14 to 19 hours away on the shores of Lake Huron.

The powerhouse Canadian team of Serge Corbin, 36, St. Boniface, Shawinigan, and Solomon Carriere, 36, Cumberland House, Saskatchewan, are early favorites in the upcoming Marathon. These experienced paddlers are leading the North American Triple Crown of Canoe Racing 1993 standings after finishing 1st in the General Clinton Regatta, the first leg of the triple crown.

Their entry will be challenged by local favorites, Jeff Kolka, 34, Grayling, and Bill Torongo, 31, Roscommon. Kolka-Torongo finished 2nd to Corbin-Carriere in the General Clinton race and keenly know the upper twisting, turning section of the AuSable course that is paddled in the dark. This may be a key advantage if the hometown team attempts to lose its Canadian challengers early in the race.

Other teams expected to challenge for the lead include Bruce Barton, 36, Homer, and his partner, Tim Triebold, 40, Marinette, Wisconsin. Barton is a former Olympic team member and national champion in several canoe racing regimens. His brother, Greg, is a four-time Olympic kayak medalist. A pair of former AuSable champs expected to join in the chase are Randy Drake, 39, Virginia Beach, Virginia, and Al Rudquist, 33, Grand Rapids, Minnesota.

Spectators will likely have their eye on several other teams, including Al Widing, Mio. At age 68, the senior contestant in this year's Marathon will be paddling with partner Fritz Lanj, 21, Clarkston. Brenda Carlson, 32, and Carrie Trudgeon, 23, both of Grayling, are the only women's team entered to date.

Mixed team entries include current Weyerhaeuser AuSable Marathon women's and mixed team record-holder, Lynn Witte, 39, Mt. Clemens, and partner, Blaine Toni, Saskatoon, Saskatchewan. Competing for top mixed-team honors are the husband-wife team of Tom and Connie Cannon, East Lansing.

Family connections play an important role in the Marathon and canoe racing. Nickie Rice, 15, Roscommon, is finally fulfilling her wish to race the Marathon with her father, Dan. The Rices wanted to race the Marathon several years ago but race rules require a 15-year-old minimum age.

PLACID WATERS--The early morning of the Marathon brings a complete change of scenery from the hectic night hours on the upper stretch of the AuSable.

No Need To Rush, Rush, Rush

You have over 14 hours to enjoy the Weyerhaeuser AuSable River Canoe Marathon!

We hope you enjoy seeing the leaders battle it out, and other points of the race, as well.

Here's some tips to make your Marathon journey a safer one.

Explore some of the timing locations until a number of the teams have passed. While the battle for the lead is always exciting, there are other thrilling maneuvers at other positions as well.

Get a close parking spot and settle in to wait for the fans and paddlers to arrive. At other points you may want to wait and see the last team pass.

The Mio Dam portage, the first cut-off point for the paddlers, is an interesting spot to wait for the teams back in the pack. Every team must reach the Mio portage within 90 minutes of the lead team or face disqualification.

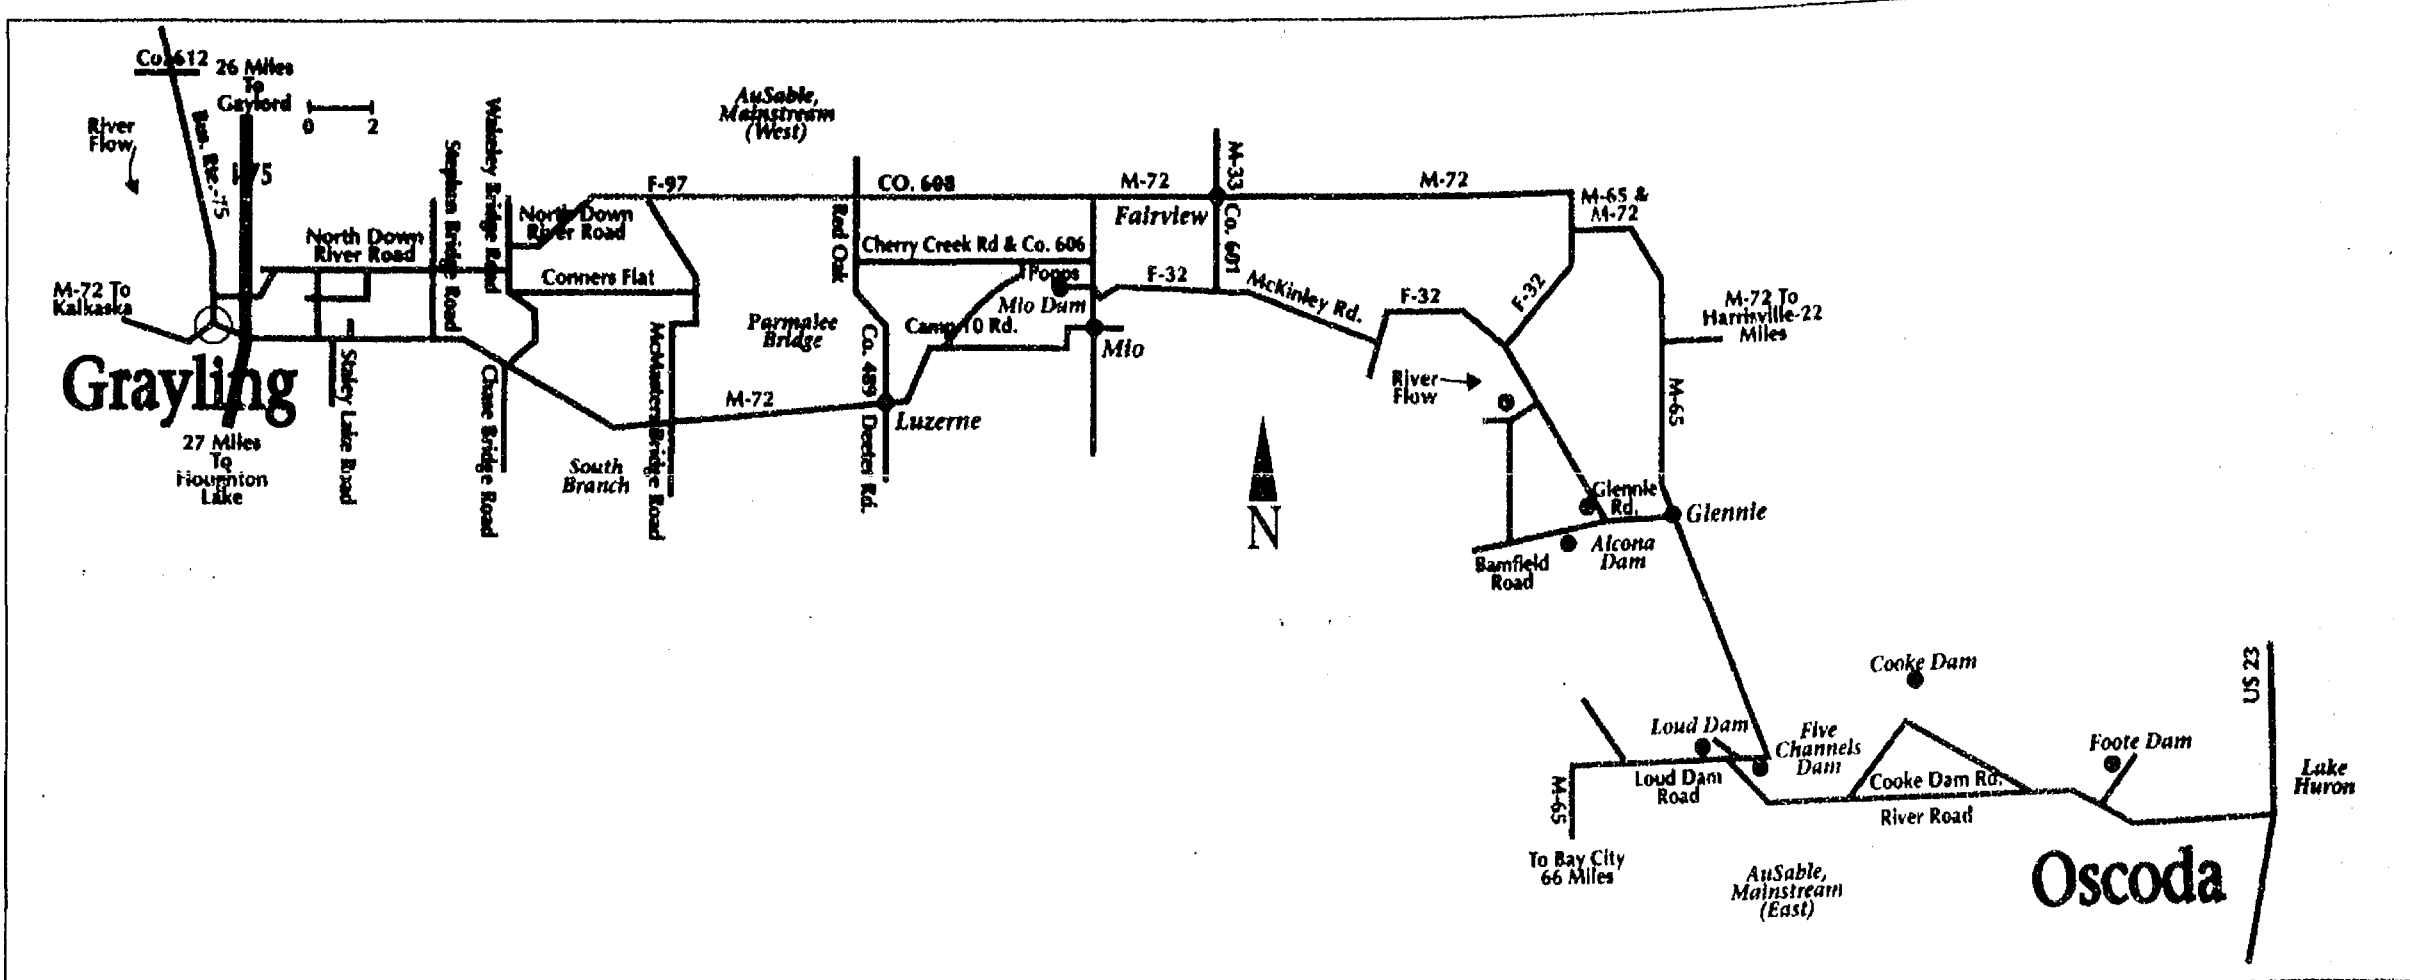

To follow the race all night, don't forget the basic necessities: thermos of coffee (or Crystal Pepsi), snacks, flashlights (from Pelican), binoculars, rainwear and good maps...all with a designated driver!

This race is 14 hours and 100 road miles long. Good luck, have fun and be careful!

North America's "Toughest Spectator Race!"

Thousands of spectators and supporters start with the race in Grayling and hopscotch to viewing points along the fabled AuSable River course all the way to Oscoda, 100 road miles and 15 hours or more away.

North America's toughest spectator race to run on Saturday

Two father-son teams are entered: Ken and Steve Kolonich, Eaton Rapids and Kenny and Dave Larkin, St-Louis de France, Quebec. They are joined in the field by brothers Gene Tabor, 44, Lake Odessa, and Frank Taber, 43, Lowell.

The Marathon goes international this year with the addition of a British team, Karl Slater, 21, and Peter Jones, 30, both of Merley Wimborne, Dorset, England. The duo was flown to the states via Northwest Airlines to compete in North America's richest canoe race.

Throughout the race, with the contestants pushing their limits and challenging the obstacles of the river, there is another story taking place — one which features the spectators testing their limits.

Fans are important to the chemistry of the race, providing encouragement to the paddlers as they push on through the night. Loyal followers cheer on their favorite teams. Many first-timers become serious fans. The unique nature and excitement of the Marathon gets into their blood and pumps up the adrenaline to the point where following the race is easy.

Ranks of the spectators thin during the very early morning hours when the night's chill sets in and a cool fog rises from the river. While the paddlers continue on, this becomes the most difficult part of the race for racers and spectators alike.

Spirits and spectators increase again as the morning sun cuts through the fog, signaling that the fans following the race have made it over the hump. However, there are still six to nine hours of competition to go.

The teams pass bridges and public access points and portage six hydroelectric dams during the course of the race, all of which provide excellent vantage points for cheering on the teams as they race by. A free program book and a spectator guide, which contains racer information, a general map of the course and a race schedule are all available in the Grayling and Oscoda areas.

Grayling's AuSable River Festival and Oscoda's AuSable River Days festivities are held in conjunction with the Weyerhaeuser AuSable River Canoe Marathon. For more information contact the Marathon office at 517-348-4425.

The Weyerhaeuser AuSable River Canoe Marathon is sanctioned by the Michigan Canoe Racing Association (MCRA). For more information about canoe racing in Michigan contact MCRA at 58 Union Street, Mt. Clemens, MI 48043.

MURDER SCENE ON WILCOX BRIDGE ROAD--This is the scene of the brutal slaying of DNR employee Terry Barr. Barr supposedly was shot in the back as he tried to remove this tree from across his path.

care of the Michigan Department of Corrections.

Terry Barr had worked for the DNR since May of 1975. He began his career as a Trades Helper and worked up to the position of Public Access Sites Supervisor in 1978.

A DNR official said, "Terry was well respected and liked by his co-workers." A very large man, Barr had been called "the gentle giant" by his co-workers. He was an accomplished painter who spent many leisure hours painting northland scenes on both canvas and sawblades.

Barr, 54, is survived by his wife Jane Ann, son Michael, 24, and daughter Debbie Ann, 23.

Funeral services were held on Tuesday, July 20, at 1 p.m. at the Hanson Hills Archery Range Building.

WIDING PRACTICES FOR YET ANOTHER MARATHON--Al Widing (L) and teammate Fritz Lamm practice for the 46th Weyerhaeuser AuSable Marathon. At 68, Widing has been racing canoes since 1953. He has been in more AuSable Marathons than any other racer.

Widing looks for 1st victory

good, I'll keep paddling. I've told my wife that when I go I want her to cut my canoe in half, put me in one half and put the other half on top. Then she can bury me."

Of his young teammate Al said, "I've always told Fritz that he should change partners if he thinks I'm slowing him down."

To that Fritz added, "I've always told Al that, too."

Duck race changed to duck raffle

For all the people who are looking for a Duck Race this year, they should know it will be a raffle this year rather than a race. The Lottery Bureau has said a specific type of duck must be used for environmental reasons. When the committee tried to purchase those ducks from the suppliers they were sold out. Hopefully, this will not lessen everyone's enthusiasm for the raffle.

Also, $1 from each ticket sold by the Grayling Jaycees will be used to help establish a Grayling Youth Center.

Miss Grayling and a life-sized duck will draw the winning duck raffle ticket.

Teams welcome in v-ball tourney

The Grayling Regional Chamber of Commerce announces the AuSable River Volleyball Tournament as part of this year's festival activities. The event will take place on Saturday, July 24, at 10:30 a.m. at the Grayling Holiday Inn volleyball court.

Four-person co-ed teams are asked to register at the Chamber office by Friday, July 23, or by calling Chairperson Kris Albee in the evenings at 348-8761. Registration fee of $15 will support trophy purchases.

Ohio Guard leaves Camp Grayling to aid Iowa flood victims

The Ohio Army National Guard's 641st Quartermaster Detachment, Kettering, has been directed to Des Moines, Iowa, to assist in water purification efforts of the city's contaminated water supply. Des Moines has been without water since flooding shut down the city's water system on July 10.

The services of the 51-member unit, currently undergoing scheduled military training at Camp Grayling, were requested by the National Guard Bureau, Washington.

While in Des Moines, the 641st will be tasked to purify water for the city's hospitals and health care facilities. The unit is scheduled to remain in Iowa for the duration of its annual training period, until July 24, or until water service can be restored by the city.

The 641st, a veteran unit of Desert Storm and one of only three National Guard units in the U.S. with a mission of water purification, will join Guard units from North Dakota and Alabama in alleviating the severe shortage of potable water for Des Moines residents.

Local riverboat builder to participate in MSU Festival of Michigan Folklife

AuSable riverboat builder Jay Stephan of Grayling will be a featured artist at the 1993 Michigan State University Museum Festival of Michigan Folklife.

Stephan is recognized by his peers as the master builder of traditional AuSable riverboats. A fishing guide since the age of 16, he comes from a long line of river people. Generations of Stephens have lived and worked along the AuSable River since his great-grandfather immigrated to Grayling from France.

Stephan learned to guide and build riverboats from his relatives and fellow guides. Beyond his "river" education, he studied engineering at Michigan State University and worked as a telephone engineer. A master boat builder and river guide, he has been a primary force in the maintenance of local traditions associated with the AuSable River. Whether sitting in the back of an AuSable riverboat with a punt pole in hand as a guide or fabricating the impressive longboats, he has served as a vital advocate of the living river culture associated with the AuSable River in Michigan.

The 1993 MSU Museum Festival of Michigan Folklife explores the theme "Migration to Michigan" by highlighting the cultural legacy of immigrants who built the state and added their distinctive stamp to Michigan's traditions. Because Michigan's cultural make-up is so diverse, the festival presents a cross-section of old and new groups and traditions. The Festival of Michigan Folklife will be held Saturday and Sunday, August 7-8 and August 14-15, from 11 a.m. to 6:30 p.m. on MSU's Landon Field.

Admission is $15 in advance, $18 at the gate, with day passes at $5. Tickets are $12 when purchased for groups of 50 or more people, and children under 10 are free. Advance buttons are available July 1 through August 5 at AAA Michigan Full-Service Branch Offices, Michigan Kroger Stores, the MSU Museum Store, Quality Dairy Stores and the Michigan Festival, Inc. offices.

"Jay is at the top of his craft," said fellow riverboat guide and builder, Dave Wyss. "He incorporates maximum efficiency with a minimum of maintenance. His boats are stable and handle with minimum effort. He is a heck of a nice guy who is not afraid of sharing his knowledge of boatbuilding with anyone."

Stephan and Wyss, the owner of Jim's Canoe Livery in Grayling, constructed a riverboat together in Washington, D.C. at the Smithsonian Institute in 1987.

MASTER GUIDE AT WORK—Grayling resident Jay Stephan works on one of his AuSable riverboats. Stephan will be a featured artist at the '93 MSU Museum Festival of Michigan Folklife.

Waste Planning Committee meets on August 3

BITS OF TALK

Stephen Peterson has received his B.S. degree from CMU in Health Fitness with minors in public health and substance abuse. He plans to work in Cardiac Rehabilitation. Peterson is the son of Alan and Ruby Peterson.

Cindy Morrell and daughters, Tara and Morgan, and friend, Beth Vanderzee of Amissville, Virginia, came to visit her grandmother, Matilda Hunter, on July 4.

The group took in the Cherry Festival at Traverse City, which also was Cindy's former home.

She returned home on July 9th.

Dean, Mirate enrolled in music seminar at WMU

Betsy Dean, a Grayling High School junior, and Sean Mirate, a 1993 GHS graduate, will be among the 180 students from Michigan, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois who have been selected by audition to participate in Western Michigan University's two-week summer music program, SEMINAR 93, July 11-24.

The summer music camp for high school students, which celebrates its 42nd year, is unique in that it focuses on chamber music, providing opportunities for students to perform in small ensembles in addition to daily participation in either band, orchestra or choir.

Each participant is enrolled in one of six seminars: string, woodwind, brass, percussion, piano/organ or voice. During their stay at WMU, students study music theory and literature, take private lessons, maintain a rigorous rehearsal schedule and perform in both large and small ensemble concerts which are open to the public free of charge. All music performed during SEMINAR will be learned and prepared during the two-week program.

SEMINAR 93 operates under the auspices of the School of Music in the College of Fine Arts at WMU. Carl Doubleday has been SEMINAR director for 26 years and a member of the staff for 29 years. He also serves as associate director of the WMU School of Music.

Dean is the daughter of Michael and Nancy Dean of Grayling. She plays trumpet in the Grayling High School band and has studied privately under Dennis Ormsbee, GHS band director. She is enrolled in the brass seminar.

Mirate, the son of Jeffrey and Karen Mirate of Grayling, is enrolled in the piano seminar. He has studied piano under Dr. Michael Conrad, head of the piano department at Interlochen Arts Academy.

Treasured kettle taken from visitor's deck

I hope the culprit that took a copper tea kettle from my deck reads The Avalanche. The tea kettle was a gift 30 years ago from a very special person; it meant a great deal to me. I live downtown where the crime rate is tremendous; however, in my 36 years of owning a home in the Detroit metropolitan area, I have always been able to fill my treasures with flowers and set them outside without someone helping themselves. I thought I could do likewise in Grayling. I am very disappointed.

Gergen describes his new mission

WHEN POLITICIAN-TURNED-journalist David Gergen reverted to politician again and took a top job at the White House, conventional wisdom was pretty solid as to the nature of his new role.

Mr. Gergen had worked in the White House under three different Republican presidents — Richard Nixon, Gerald Ford and Ronald Reagan. His job had generally been to put the best possible public light on what these three administrations did.

That would be his new role, too, when Democratic President Bill Clinton plucked Mr. Gergen from his role as editor-at-large of U.S. News & World Report to become counselor to the president.

Indeed, in the first weeks following Mr. Gergen's latest transformation, the Clinton team dodged any sort of public foul-up that had plagued it during the recent past — such as $200 haircuts, bollixed appointments, and questionable personnel tactics.

Maybe there was something after all in the Gergen magic. Mr. Gergen's experience and expertise in White House affairs seemed to hit home.

Washington... surely owe the country more than we are delivering," he wrote, in best Washington beltline insider style.

"To continue the drift and deadlock of recent years would represent a complete abdication of personal responsibility."

Mr. Gergen admitted possible "philosophical differences" with his new boss, and described his own philosophy as "moderately right of center."

But, he added: "Patriotism must come ahead of partisanship..."

"Democrats must learn from Republicans, for example, that in rebuilding family life, old-fashioned values matter a heck of a lot; Republicans must learn from Democrats that government should have a serious role in helping working couples rise above poverty."

MR. GERGEN MAKES some good points, and his appointment was a sound move by Mr. Clinton. Mr. Gergen has already shown himself to be adaptable, and he most certainly will prove an asset to the President.

Whether Mr. Gergen can pop back over to the Republican side in yet another administration in the future is open to question.

One of the assets for the White House is that the appointment effectively silenced a sometime critic, as Mr. Gergen admitted in his final paragraph: "A month ago, assessing President Clinton after his early stumbles, I wrote in these pages, 'If he doesn't have all the right answers, we should stop jeering, get off the sidelines and help him find them.' Frankly, I'm not sure how much help I'll be — but he sure called my bluff."

Heck, if Mr. Clinton would appoint me to a top White House job to help him run things, I'd stop criticizing him too. I might even settle for something less than "counselor." Dave Gergen is already filling that mission.

Linda DeMarchis, M.A., Health Educator

This column is presented as a public service to the community by District Health Department No. 1 which serves, Wexford, Missaukee, Kalkaska, and Crawford counties. If you have a question you would like answered, please send it to Health Educator District Health Department No. 1, 401 Lake St., Cadillac, Michigan, 49601.

Question: It is my understanding that a lot of accidents happen because of playground equipment. What can we do as parents to prevent this?

Answer: Each year, over 260,000 children will visit hospital emergency rooms because of playground injuries. Some children will even die as a result of these injuries. This isn't to say that playgrounds should be avoided. A well-maintained and supervised playground can be an important place for children to test strength, expand imagination, develop skills and meet new friends. A few basic rules and criteria for safety can help avoid serious injury and make the playground a non-hazardous environment children can truly enjoy. The following suggestions are adapted from Parents Magazine, CFA, CPSC and the National Safe Kids Campaign.

Good surfaces are very important. Grass and hard-packed dirt have no give and should not be under play equipment. Concrete will most likely cause head injuries and broken bones. The best surfaces are wood chips/mulch, small gravel or sand, all kept at a depth of nine to 12 inches. These are softer surfaces that will adequately cushion a mishap. Some foam or rubber mats are designed specifically for playground use.

Playground equipment must be placed far enough apart so that children do not fall on other equipment or children. The height of these pieces should be appropriate for the intended age. Slides or climbing equipment should not be more than six feet tall for pre-schoolers or seven feet tall for school-age children. Platforms and walkways more than 20 inches above the ground should have guardrails. Make sure that the spaces between steps and rungs are large enough to prevent head entrapment.

Swings should have special precautions: Children under two should only use swings with leg dividers so they can't slip out. They should not be swinging next to older children and there should be a distance of at least two feet between swings. Support poles should be 30 inches away from swings. Swing seats should be made of lightweight rubber or plastic instead of wood or metal which can deliver a heavy blow to a child's head.

Because children are vulnerable to cuts and bruises from ill-kept equipment, check that playground equipment is properly maintained. Look for rust, cracks, splinters, splitting parts or missing bolts. Even a loose bolt can reduce the stability of a swing set or slide.

Playground materials are also important. Metal slides can reach temperatures hot enough to burn a child. A young child with undeveloped reflexes may not be able to pull away from a hot surface and thus suffer an injury. New playsets made of pressure-treated lumber should be sealed with polyurethane paint and children should not be allowed to chew on wooden rails because of the chemicals they contain.

GUEST EDITORIAL

By Dr. Gerald H. Miller, Director, Michigan Department of Social Services

Considering The Safety Of Children

A mission of the Michigan Department of Social Services is to protect children. Within that context, the philosophy is to strengthen families so that children can be reared safely, intervening in people's lives "in the least intrusive manner and for the shortest possible time" needed to accomplish this goal. For most children, protection and safety can best be assured within their family.

Efforts to preserve or reunite families—the premise under which Michigan has operated for many years — has been questioned in some quarters recently. Some people feel the interests of the family are placed above the protection of children.

This is absolutely not so. We understand and accept their concern, and everyone agrees that harm to children in any circumstance is tragic. But let me assure you that the safety and well-being of children is always foremost.

Many people who argue for the removal of children see the damage which has been done by abusive or neglectful parents. I can understand that. However, they are not around to see the long-term damage to children which can result from acting hastily or unnecessarily to remove them from their families.

They also do not see the enormous successes which have resulted from our family preservation efforts, even sometimes with families once thought to be beyond hope.

We hear from many families (96 percent in the latest study) that family preservation is exactly what they needed to help them deal with their problems — and they would recommend it for other families.

The two basic options available in most situations, either:

- Remove the child from the risk, or
- Remove the risk from the child.

It is our belief that children are generally served best in the context of their own family; thus the second option is the one we should strive to attain.

This is not always possible and, when necessary, the court is petitioned to remove children who are at risk.

Out-of-home placement, even though necessary in some cases, always creates trauma for a child. Children get the message that it must have been their fault because, in their minds, they are the ones being punished — they are being removed from parents, friends, neighbors, sometimes school and other things familiar to them. Children generally suffer severe feelings of guilt and anxiety.

Children love their parents, and their goal is almost always to be reunited with their parents — except in very severe and unusual circumstances.

When children are removed from their parents, efforts begin immediately to plan for a permanent future for them. The first option is always to explore the possibility of reuniting the family. Other options may be living with older siblings, other relatives, or a legal guardian.

Some family situations deteriorate so badly that the termination of parental rights must be considered so the child can be adopted.

One extremely important point to remember: Safeguards exist throughout the system. The role of the Probate Court is dominant in all decisions; to place children in foster care, to return them to their parents, to terminate the parents' rights, to find the children another home, or to approve adoption.

Family preservation or reunification, even though just one of the options, is the central focus not only because it is considered to be good practice — it's the law.

Probate Judges are required by federal law (PL 96-272) to determine, in every case, whether "reasonable efforts" have been made to keep the family together.

Foster care is a valuable and necessary ingredient for a quality child-care system, a short-term goal until a more permanent solution can be arranged. However, it is not a panacea — in many cases, the answer is not to quickly remove children from homes that may appear less than desirable. The results of a life in the foster care system can be devastating. Children who have been in foster care tend to develop a long-term dependency on government support and exhibit much higher rates of school dropout and incarceration.

At latest count, about 17,000 children in Michigan are living away from their parents' homes due to abuse, neglect, or delinquency.

It is a well-substantiated fact that out-of-home care is far more costly to the people of Michigan — both fiscally and in human terms — than keeping families safely together.

Probate judges, prosecutors, and this department must consider the long-range effect of removing children from their homes — the effects on the children, their parents, and society in general.

The safety of children must always be the primary concern, but rushing to "save" children can have, in the long run, the opposite effect.

Sometimes... many times the best way to save the child is by saving the family.

Rotary golf outing nets $3,000

By Don Geiss

Once again the community has supported the Grayling Rotary Club in its fund raising projects, as the recent golf outing netted over $3,000 for good works projects.

Although the type of outing would only support 36 four-person teams, as many as 46 asked to play. All participants won prizes, even though they may not have placed among the lowest scores. These prizes were once again evidence of community participation, as merchants supplied them all. They included coolers, a putter, canoe paddles, an atlas, fender covers, tee shirts and many gift certificates.

The grand climax of the event was a steak dinner with all of the trimmings, the awarding of the grand prizes and drawings for the 50/50 winners.

For the third year in a row, the event was held at the Grayling Country Club, where the staff rolled out the red carpet.

The outing this year was divided into three sections: women's, men's, and senior men's. The 1st prize for women, consisting of a golf cart for each woman, was won by the team of Mary Jo Jansen, Helen Belnave, Jan Henig and Helen Corbett. The men's division prize of Gortex rainsuits went to Al Zigila, Greg Zigila, Rudy Martinez and Bill Worden. The senior men's 1st place award of golf bags went to John Sojka, Mike Nowak, Jim Anderson and Ed Naudzius.

In the 50/50 drawing, ten $100 prizes were drawn. The winners included Mary Harland, Dave Malm, Gloria Alef, Tom Weaver and Betty Mansfield. Also awarded $100 were Bob McIntosh, Paul Harwood, Nichole DeVriendt, Jeff Lipe and John Dobry.

General chairman for the event was Scott Fick. Serving on his committee were Dan Wyers, Steve Thompson and Tom Roney.

Kiwanis clubs celebrate Family Day on August 8

The Kiwanis Club of Grayling urges every family in Crawford County to observe Family Day on Sunday, August 8, said Club President Dean Smith.

Family Day seeks to dramatize family solidarity and pride, reaffirming the family's role as the cornerstone of society and the best vehicle for teaching basic truths and morality to children.

Appropriate Family Day activities include family reunions or outings, religious worship and work on family trees.

Family Day was begun in the late 1960s by Kiwanis International and received the immediate endorsement of civic, church, governmental, educational and labor leaders. Through the years, Family Day has grown in outreach and in effectiveness, said Smith.

Last year, Kiwanis clubs raised and spent more than $65 million on community service activities.

Fruits, vegetables should be properly washed

By the time fruits and vegetables reach your neighborhood store, most pesticide residues have been eliminated through the chemical breakdown that occurs over time and through rinsing and polishing.

Although most fruits and vegetables are residue-free when you buy them, for the small quantities that might remain on the skin of the produce, simple cold water washing will eliminate or significantly reduce any residue.

The following are some tips to keep in mind as you prepare fresh food for yourself and your family:

- Buy fresh fruits and vegetables from reputable grocers or directly from farmers at city markets. Familiarity with a retail food business will help you gauge the quality and consistency of their fresh food and will make it easier to approach them with questions and concerns about their products.

- Buy only top-quality fruits and vegetables. This doesn't necessarily mean "perfect looking." Some less-than-perfect looking produce may have been grown organically (without pesticides) but wholesomeness and taste will not be compromised.

- Many shoppers place fresh fruit and vegetables into plastic bags provided by grocery stores. These bags are a convenient way of protecting the produce while shopping or during the trip home. But fresh food should never be stored in closed, plastic bags because condensation that occurs may hasten ripening or cause the growth of mold. Never place washed produce back into a bag that once held unwashed food: you don't want to recontaminate clean food with micro-organisms.

- Wash all fruits and vegetables in cold water without detergent or soap. Soap residue can be difficult to remove from some foods and soap is not intended to be consumed.

- Water helps remove soil particles and other debris that may be hard to see, especially on leafy green vegetables like lettuce. Place the food in a colander and rinse well, making sure to clean all sides of the produce, or fill a clean sink with clean, cool water and let the fruits and vegetables soak for a few minutes.

- Some fruits and vegetables, like strawberries and mushrooms, have a high water content and should only be washed just prior to eating. Store these foods away from washed produce in the refrigerator.

- Fruits and vegetables that grow below ground or just above it can pick up additional organisms and pesticides from the soil than other kind of produce. These include potatoes, squash, watermelon, cantalope, carrots, parsnips and rutabaga.

If you have any questions about fruits and vegetables or food safety call the Michigan Department of Agriculture, Food Division at (517) 373-1060.

FOX RUN GOLF NEWS

By Dick Spenny

The Fox Run Men's league kicked off its second half of play with some low scores and big victories.

Jim Lederman and Tom Bailey began the campaign with a 15.5-point victory, thanks to Bailey's two birdies, net 32. Bailey and Bob Janssen tied for gross honors with a pair of smooth 38s. Don Moore and Mike Griffin captured a 15.5- to 14.5-point lead over Doug Furstenau and Howard McColley. Furstenau and Eli Mathis carded gross 42s, with Mathis gathering net honors on his 33.

The biggest win of the season went to Corky Gaylor and Hans Lantzsch as they hung a 17-point win on the scoreboard in third flight. Bob Murphy continued his fine play with a 44. Ron Lewis carved out a net 30 to lead the league.

Fourth flighters Ralph Deesloover and John Patchin have set the pace with an opening 15.5-point pasting of their opponents. Jim Rutledge and Ed Furstenau carded 48 with Furstenau's net 33 showing as the flight leader.

Bob "Scotty" Scott, rotund ranger at Fox Run waited 37 years for his second hole-in-one. It finally happened this June when his eight iron on the 131-yard fifth hole rolled into the cup for an ace.

Just like his first, however, Scotty never saw the ball fall into the hole. He was too busy looking for his tee. His playing partners watched the whole thing for him. The perfect shot helped him to a score of 40 and reminded him to keep his eye on the ball.

The Tuesday Couples league closed the book on its first half. Randy and Michelle Stuck took the crown over Bill and Natalie Denemy by a mere one point in second flight.

Third flight pace setters were Gordon and Mary Koch. Ray and Donna Leutz trailed by five after the closing round.

Gordy and Linda Mott edged out Jim and Joann Lederman by 3.5 to secure the first flight honors.

The Fox Run ladies saw Mary Alice McKindles and Sue Murphy lead all teams in the league with 93.5 points as they won first flight honors. Vicki Borchers and Carolyn Jones took second flight honors. Barb Gaylor and Camilla Dewitt reign as third flight champs.

Fox Run is gearing up to host the ladies Heart of the North tournament on August 19. If your home club is a member of this group, you should check with the pro shop at 348-4343 for details.

A birdie barrage hit Fox Run on the second night of second half play in the Wednesday Men's League. First and second flighters carded 11 one under scores.

Del Potvin earned super sub of the week honors. His net 32 helped Dan Wyers to a 13-8 win over Ralph Desloover and John Patchin. Jim Lederman also turned in a net 32 in first flight. Lederman's gross 38 tied for scratch honors with Jeff Nester.

Two weeks into the second half, no first half winner is in the top three point makers in any flight.

Fourth flight pace setters Jim Watson and George Kehoe at 29 have a slim lead over Jim Rutledge and Doc Oppy at 27.5.

A one-point lead is all that separates the top three teams in flight three. Corky Gaylor and Hans Lantzsch head the pack, with Wally King and Ron Lewis a half point back. Steve Green and Leo Johns trail by only a point.

Owner Jerry Dewitt and long driving partner Don Nester set the pace in second flight with a two-point bulge over two teams, Bill Denemy and Rodger Wagner along with Don Moore and Mike Griffin.

First flight masters Tom Bailey and Jim Lederman threaten a runaway as they have spurred to a six and a half-point lead over Jeff Nester and Bob Jansen. Doug Blue and Bill Myers are six and a half back, thanks to a two-week winning streak.

Richard Kreidler currently leads in honors for the most improved golfer of the year. Kreidler, a fourth flighter, has reduced his nine-hole handicap from 16 to ten in nine weeks of play. Bob Jansen is nipping at his heels after going from a seven to a three.

LEGISLATION SIGNED—Requirements for using the Ralph A. MacMullan Conference Center near Higgins Lake are better defined under legislation signed by Gov. John Engler (left), said an area lawmaker who sponsored the measure. State Rep. Allen Lowe (right), received a copy of the new law during a ceremony in the Michigan Capitol. The 105th District legislator said the center is intended primarily for state employee training sessions. Controversy emerged in recent years when other groups sought to use the facility. "Area businesses expressed concern that the center might start competing unfairly with the private sector," said Lowe, R-Grayling. "By better defining who can use the MacMullan Center, we can keep it operating smoothly for many years."

Mercy to offer Lamaze classes

A new series of Lamaze childbirth education classes will begin Thursday, August 5, at Mercy Hospital/Grayling with instructor Joy Bobenmoyer, R.N.

Expectant parents can prepare for the birth of their child during this series of six sessions. You'll learn about pregnancy, child care tips, breastfeeding advice, relaxation techniques, preparation for labor and delivery, exercises and what to expect when you come to the hospital. A tour of the birthing room and obstetrics department at Mercy Hospital is included.

"Women should be in their seventh month of pregnancy when joining the class," Bobenmoyer said. "This is the best time to learn the Lamaze method of childbirth so it is fresh in your mind when you are delivering the baby."

This series of Lamaze classes will be held from 7 to 9 p.m. in the Riverside Room, continuing through September 9. For the first session, meet in the hospital lobby. Cost is $25 per couple if delivering at Mercy Hospital, or $40 per couple if delivering elsewhere.

In addition, a three-session refresher course is held for parents wishing to renew their Lamaze skills. The cost is $15 for refresher classes August 19, 26, and September 2.

Pre-registration is suggested but not required. For more information call Mercy Healthline at 1-800-33-MERCY.

On May 14, in Mr. Howard Lehti's 5th hour Global Issues class, two citizens of the former Soviet Union, Tanya Puchkova and Sasha Dorafeev, presented a brief overview of life in the former Union of Soviet Socialist Republics.

During the class period, they spoke about how life in the old Soviet Union differed from that of the United States. They discussed and compared socialist and capitalist systems. They stressed how difficult it was for the Soviet people to accept this large a change in their system. Puchkova discussed the problems of many teens brought on by a loss of jobs and the widening differences between generations. The class engaged in a lively discussion and enjoyed the session.

Currently, Puchkova is a geography instructor at Kirtland Community College. Dorafeev works at Kirtland as a physics assistant.

The Larsons left on Thursday for their home in Atlanta, Georgia.

SAILOR RETURNS HOME—"Happiness to me is when my son calls from Thailand on Independence Day to inform me he has decided not to reenlist in the Navy," said Sarah Volkenborn, the mother of Byron Smith, who is on the USS Nimitz, an aircraft carrier which has been in the Persian Gulf area (called the imminent danger area) for several months since they took off in early February.

Smith is a 1986 Grayling High School graduate. He will finish his six-year hitch with the Navy on September 1. His rank is AT2, which is equivalent to an Army Sergeant. He just completed a business course on cruise to keep busy.

They will stop over in Hawaii for three days before heading home. Smith can hardly wait to get home, where his parents Sarah and David Volkenborn, his wife Trina and daughters Victoria, 28 months, and Julianna, 8 months, are anxiously waiting for his arrival. He plans to take a three month course in Tennessee beginning in January to learn wood grading before starting to work in the family business.

The food on ship is terrible, so Smith doesn't eat much and always comes home thin looking, said Volkenborn, who mailed him two boxes. His wife also mailed a few.

Mail and food boxes are always welcome when the sailors are out to sea for six months. You may write to Any Sailor, C/O AIMD IM-3 64C, USS Nimitz (CVN 68), FPO AP 96697-2820.

cotton, floss, oil of cloves, paraffin and "Dental First Aids Facts," a handy pocket reference available from the Michigan Dental Association.

Here are some tips on how to handle the following dental problems:

Toothache: Rinse your mouth well with warm water and gently floss between the teeth to remove any trapped food. Use a cold compress on the outside of the cheek if there is swelling and take a pain reliever. Never place an aspirin directly on the tooth or gum.

Broken Tooth: Rinse with warm water, apply cold compresses to the cheek and get to a dentist as soon as possible.

Knocked Out Tooth: Rinse the tooth lightly in running water, but don't scrub it, and touch it as little as possible. Put the tooth back in the socket and hold it firmly in place. If you can't reinsert the tooth, keep it in a glass or container of water or milk to keep the nerve clean and moist. Get to a dentist within 30 minutes, if possible, to improve the chances of the tooth being saved.

Objects Wedged Between Teeth: Gently remove the object with floss and avoid cutting the gums. Do not use a sharp instrument.

Lost filling: Apply oil of cloves to cotton, squeeze out the excess and place a small piece of the cotton in the cavity. Or cover the cavity with paraffin and take aspirin as needed.

Bitten Tongue or Lip: Put direct pressure on the bleeding area with a clean cloth and apply a cold compress to minimize swelling. If the bleeding doesn't stop, go to a nearby hospital.

Possible Fractured Jaw: Immobilize the jaw by any means, such as a handkerchief, necktie or towel tied around the head, and go to a hospital emergency room as quickly as possible.

To receive a free pocket reference "Dental First Aid Facts," send a self addressed, stamped envelope to the Michigan Dental Association, 230 N. Washington Sq., Suite 208, Lansing, MI 48933-1392.

Entries pouring in for Thursday's business relay

Interest and entries for this year's Business Relay are much greater than in previous years. The 5th running of the AuSable Business Relay will be held on Thursday, July 22, from 4:30 to 7 p.m. with the start at Penrod's.

The event places teams of four contestants (two must be from the business, organization or club) in two canoes in relay fashion. The first half of the team paddle a canoe upstream from Penrod's to Ray's. Upon completion of this momentous task (ask someone who has done it), the other half of the team (in a second canoe) paddle easily downstream to take the glory at the finish line.

There are three classes: women's, men's, and mixed. The entry fee is still $10 per four-person team.

Last year's champs were the K of C team with 2nd going to Mercy Hospital in the men's division; Grayling Promotional Association, followed by Carlisle Canoes, was tops in the women's division; and Rainbow Rehab & Fitness, followed by the Holiday Inn Instigators, in the mixed division.

Adding to this year's event is a special challenge being made by the Grayling Fire Department to other departments in the area, as well as a commitment by the Kalkaska Rotary which plans to field two teams.

The event will see the return of Mike Wieland as the event announcer and Judge John Hunter as the adjudicator of the competition.

Paddle time is less than ten minutes and the committee will work with the entries to secure a starting time that works with their schedule.

Entries are available at the Mini Mall race office or by calling 348-4425 during the day. This year's event is being hosted by the Camp Grayling Conservation Club.

This year's early entries include: K of C Lancers, Crawford County #1, Crawford County #2, Fick's #1, Fick's #2, Gildner Construction, Iron Gate Restaurant, Michigan Trappers Association, Bill's Babes, Grayling Fire Department, Range Control, Camp Grayling, Weyerhaeuser #1, Weyerhaeuser #2, and Grayling Youth Booster Club.

Thanks a Million

WEEKLY SYNDICATED COLUMN BY PERCY ROSS

Millionaire Percy Ross is known for his philanthropic work. He offers help and encouragement for those in need. He has earned a fortune and a wealth of knowledge during his lifetime and wants to share both. His motto: "He who gives while he lives . . . also knows where it goes"

First choice should be last alternative

Dear Mr. Ross: I need your help. I just found out that my girlfriend is pregnant. I don't know how it happened. We were safe and she was on the pill. I'm 19 years old and I don't have a job. My parents have kicked me out and I've been staying with my aunt or friends or whoever I can. I have no car, no money. Please help me--if nothing else, so my girlfriend can have an abortion. I don't want to kill an innocent child, but what choice do I have?

W. W. ... Valdosta, GA

Dear W.: You have several options and abortion should be the last alternative. Nowhere in your letter have you indicated how your girlfriend feels. Right now I'm more concerned about her than I am about you. For her convenience, I'm sending you my toll-free number. Please have her contact me right away.

Dear Mr. Ross: I've wanted to write you regarding my need, but I'm too embarrassed in that I'm worried you'd share my letter with the newspaper. Does everything you do have to be common knowledge?

Ms. D. C. ... Duluth, MN

Dear Ms. C.: I've yet to break a confidentiality request. All you need to do is indicate your desire to keep your letter "private" and I'll honor that in the strictest sense of the word. Scouts honor.

Dear Mr. Ross: We have begun the slide down the "slippery slope". My wife, who has no health insurance, and is not eligible for any, has developed serious stomach problems and migraine headaches. She can no longer be employed, yet is not eligible for disability. My sole income is Social Security Disability. We just found out that the State of New York has been receiving a major portion of my income for our daughter (now age 40) who is severely retarded and being provided for by the State.

Our only choice is to declare bankruptcy, but we can't afford the filing fee of $150, plus another $40 in forms. How ironic. Having faced the "grim reaper" four times now, I have to wonder whether the struggle is really worth it.

Mr. M. P. ... Escondido, CA

Dear Mr. P.: Only you can determine the quality of your life, but I can certainly aid you in filing bankruptcy. My $190 says here's to wiping the financial slate clean. The other $100 I'm sending says take your wife out for a good time before the grim reaper returns for a fifth time. Best wishes.

Dear Mr. Ross: I'm a single parent that has been laid off for the past 10 months, making finances extremely tight. My daughter has been in counseling for depression for several months. They want her to see a psychiatrist for an evaluation to determine if she's manic-depressive. The evaluation is $200. I've called every county and state aid society in my area and there is no help available for this because there is no drug abuse involved. Can you help us out? She can hardly function in the real world and needs medication.

Ms. D. M. ... Royal Oak, MI

Dear Ms. M.: If ever there was a glitch in the system, you've definitely found it. By all means get your daughter in for a psychiatric evaluation A.S.A.P. My $200 will be there in a few days. Too bad the system can't move as swiftly.

Pridnia provides mineral rights brochure free

Property owners who have long had questions and concerns about their surface property rights in relation to oil and gas well drilling can turn to Senator John D. Pridnia's (R-Hubbard Lake) recently released mineral rights brochure for important information and answers to their questions.

The brochure was produced in response to growing concern over drilling activity and its impact on surface property rights. In addition, research has shown that property owners do not fully understand their rights in these situations.

The brochure is an easy-to-read guide, which answers property owners' questions in a clear and understandable manner. Among the questions answered are: What is a severed mineral right? How can a person sever the mineral rights from the surface property rights? Without answers to these questions, property owners are often not fully aware of their rights, and as a consequence may sacrifice valuable rights under the law, Pridnia said.

The brochure is available from county clerks, township clerks and public libraries throughout northern Michigan. Or contact Pridnia's office by calling (517) 373-2413 or write to 610 Farnum Building, State Capitol, Lansing, 48913.

Insurance agent earns top honors

Michael H. Russell has been named Agent of the Year for the second consecutive year by Gary S. Wood, CLU & Associates, an agency of American United Life Insurance Company. He earned Agent of the Month honors four times in 1992, the only member of the 11-agent staff to do so.

"Naturally, I'm pleased to earn this award," said Russell, but I can't take all of the credit. I've been fortunate to develop relationships with the caliber of clients who have made my job a real pleasure to perform."

Russell has been with the Wood agency since 1989. Originally from Grayling, he now resides in Tawas City.

Oppermann wins scholarship

Peter Oppermann of Grayling has been named winner of the Jess Birtcher Scholarship sponsored by the Michigan Association of Timbermen of Newberry.

The scholarship, established in honor of a longtime leader of the timber industry (deceased), is available to students of families employed in the industry.

Oppermann, who attends Ferris State University in Big Rapids, is majoring in pre-optometry. He was named to the dean's list of the College of Arts and Sciences, and is a member of the Ferris State University ski team. During the summer, he is employed at Ray's Canoeing and Fly Factory in Grayling.

He is the son of Mary and Clayton "Butch" Brown of AJD Forest Products in Grayling and R. C. Oppermann of Saginaw.

If I could put to words dear,
The way I feel today,
It's been a year, my darling,
since you were called away.
My life has been so empty,
I long so for your touch.
You'll always be here in my heart,
I love you so very much.
Look for me my darling,
For when I come you'll see.
We'll be together always
Through all eternity.

MILITARY NEWS

Navy Petty Officer 2nd Class Jeffrey J. Luce, son of James H. and Betty L. Fleming of Grayling, recently passed the midway point in a six-month deployment aboard the aircraft carrier USS Theodore Roosevelt, homeported in Norfolk, Virginia, as lead ship in its battle group.

After more than 100 days at sea, the ship transited the Suez Canal from the Mediterranean Sea to the Red Sea where Luce is now participating in Operation Southern Watch, enforcing the United Nations-imposed "no-fly" zone over southern Iraq.

While deployed, elements of the battle group have worked closely with North Atlantic Treaty Organization allies enforcing a United Nations imposed "no-fly" zone over Bosnia-Herzegovina. While operating in the Adriatic Sea, some units also participated in Operation Provide Promise, providing relief supplies to war-torn former Yugoslavia.

USS Theodore Roosevelt is a Nimitz-class aircraft carrier that stretches 1,040 feet in length and displaces 96,358 tons. It carries a crew and air wing of 5,500 men and 85 aircraft. After spending the first 78 days at sea, Luce visited Rhodes, Greece, for a five-day port visit.

The 1983 graduate of Grayling High School joined the Navy in April, 1984.

'Bullmania' offers $100 game of tag with 2000-pound bull

The Crawford County Fair will feature "Bullmania" and a demolition derby on Friday, July 23 at 8 p.m., and Saturday, July 24, at 12:30 p.m.

Both shows are presented by Buckin' "E" Productions of Reed City, owned and operated by Garth and Rita Erbes.

"Buckin' 'E' Productions has taken what we believe to be the best of all the rodeo events and combined them to produce 'Bullmania,'" said the Erbeses.

"Bullmania features American free-style bull fighting competition in which the rodeo clown plays tag with a 2,000-pound bull; bull riding; bronc riding; and cowgirls' barrel racing.

Contestants come from as far away as Texas, Canada, Louisiana, as well as from all over Michigan, said Garth Erbes. To register to compete, call him at (616) 832-2579.

"Bullmania" also features specialty acts to entertain young and old alike, including Mickey D, a capuchin monkey cowboy, who rides on top of his "steed," Poncho, a border collie dog, working sheep in the arena; Hooter, a trick mule; and Sir George, the trained Brahma bull.

Also, during "Bullmania" performances, Buckin' "E" is staging an special challenge to National Guard members.

"We will turn out a bull called Hook Eye into the arena, with a $100 bill on each horn," explained Erbes. "It is there for the taking in a 70-second time frame. The challenge is extended to guards only who have paid admission and are willing to sign a waiver."

For entry information, guards should talk to the stock contractor prior to the performance.

The demolition derby is a resource for fun competition and spectator amusement, said Erbes.

It uses local participants and people come out to cheer on their favorite team as drivers ram, bang and crash their way around, trying to take 1st place.

Rules for the derby are available at the Grayling Regional Chamber of Commerce office. To enter, call (616) 832-2579.

The events will take place at the fair grounds, where lights were recently installed and portable bleachers will be in place to allow for ample seating.

Where Have I Been?

I've been drunk and I've been high.
I've wished at times that I could die.

Without the drugs and alcohol,
Life was good as I recall.

My head was clear
My eyes were bright.
So many things were in my sight.

All my hopes and all my dreams consumed by drugs or so it seemed

Without the beer and no more dope,
A life can grow.
Yes, there's still hope
Please Just Say No!

New Age Bibles #8

G. A. Riplinger's book entitled, "New Age Bible Versions, (An Exhaustive Documentation Exposing The Message, Men and Manuscripts Moving Mankind To The Antichrist's One World Religion) gives a detailed description of the final Bible of antichrist. Two books called "The Shepherd of Hermas" and "The Epistle of Barnabas" will be added to their bible to provide a detailed manual for the New Ages. Riplinger lists some new doctrines to be taught: "1. Take 'the name' of the beast. 2. Give 'up to the beast.' 3. Form a one world government. 4. Kill those not receiving his 'name.' 5. Worship female virgins. 6. Receive 'another spirit.' 7. Seek power. 8. Believe that God is immanent in his creation, as a pantheistic, monistic Hindu god. 9. Avoid marriage; permit fornication. 10. Abstain from fasting. 11. Subscribe to the New Age Root Race Theory. 12. Be saved by being baptized and keeping the 'twelve' mandates of the Antichrist."

Riplinger quotes New Agers as calling this period since the birth of Christ — "The Black Age." Based upon the Hindu Root Race theory, spiritual connotations are given to the terms "black" and "white." New Ager Vera Alder tells her readers: "The Black Age... the Piscean Age, as you know, lasts 2000 years or so. Its inception marked the beginning of the Christian era. It is passing out of manifestation now, as the new Aquarian Age is coming in." Prophecy details are quoted from The Shepherd of Hermas: "The shepherd ordered... the black stones removed [and] cast aside... they are black; for their race is lawless. [They] shall be delivered unto him to be put to death. The Black One is crooked... offer resistance that the Black One may not effect entrance."

Riplinger says of the above prophecy in the coming bible of antichrist: "The 'black' stones, which are to be 'put to death' are those Christian martyrs which Christ said will be 'put to death' during the tribulation (Matthew 10:21)." This is to be the end of the old 6th Root race, and the beginning of the 7th Root race the Homo Neoticus. As

New Age writer John Randolph Price boasts, New Agers are "part of a new race that will someday rule the planet."

Riplinger ties in Blavatsky's Root Race Theory with the anti-Semitism in Hitler's Mein Kampf. The liberal theologian who taught Hitler this was Gerhard Kittel. Kittel also wrote the Theological Dictionary of the New Testament which became the standard Greek underlying modern Bible versions. "Kittel's trial, conviction and imprisonment for his key part in the extermination of two thirds of Europe's Jewish population is a harsh fact." Now Christians join Jews in the 6th Root race prophesied for martyrdom.

Donating blood is community responsibility

The philosophy of the American Red Cross Blood Program is that it is the responsibility of the healthy individuals in our society to voluntarily donate blood in the amounts needed to permit optimum care of all patients who need it.

Blood, as a human resource, should be available to all who need it regardless of economic status, ability to donate, ability to replace, place of residence or membership in a specific group. Individuals should receive blood because they need it. There should be no other criteria.

The only place to get this blood is from healthy individuals in the community. Red Cross cannot manufacture the blood — it can only collect it, process it and distribute it to the hospitals where it is transfused into the arm of those individuals needing it and thus it goes back into the community as part of the life-stream of another one of its citizens.

It has been the experience of the American Red Cross that the people in this country will respond when there is a need, expecting nothing in return except the personal satisfaction of improving the quality of life in their community by being a "good neighbor." The need for blood does exist, and the need grows greater as medical science finds more ways to use blood and blood products in saving lives and improving the health of patients. As more of our communities become aware of this need, the Red Cross feels they will respond in sufficient numbers to assure an adequate supply of this life-giving medicine.

No charge is ever made for blood received through the Red Cross, either by the hospitals or Red Cross. The charge appearing on your statement related to blood transfusions is to reimburse the hospital and pay part of the Red Cross costs of equipment, collection, processing and transporting the blood.

Blood is provided by the Red Cross for all residents within the area served by the Wolverine Regional Blood Program. You do not have to give blood to get it, and replacement is never demanded.

When volunteers donate their blood to the Red Cross Blood Program, medical technologists handle it with painstaking care and skill. Each unit of blood must be typed, a process that involves meticulous scrutiny of its reaction to certain reagents. The blood must, by Federal Law, undergo a series of tests that determine whether it contains elements that could transmit hepatitis or other diseases to the recipient.

Because of the growth of the blood program, the scheduling of bloodmobile visits for each day in the week, each week in the year, has taken on greater importance. These visits must be very carefully scheduled in order to obtain the blood each day that is needed to cover the needs of all hospitals within the region, as donors must have a 56-day interval between blood donations.

All welcome at Red Cross annual lunch

The Crawford County American Red Cross Annual Meeting will be held on August 12 at the Grayling Holiday Inn. Social hour is at 11:30 a.m. with lunch served at 12 noon. R.S.V.P. by August 5, (348-9745). The public is welcome.

Prairie Schooner

Riding at anchor in the ports of Boston, New York, Philadelphia and Charleston were proud vessels eager to take you anywhere. Sails billowing daily, they embarked for Europe, Africa and the Orient.

But you couldn't book passage for Dakota territory. So, pioneers loaded covered wagons for the trek west. It always makes sense, when you know where you're going, to go the best way!

Some poetic fellow, seeing the canvas rippling in the wind, dubbed those wagons "prairie schooners."

You'll find many earnest friends and neighbors worshipping this Sabbath. They have a goal, a destiny. It still makes sense... when you know where you're going... go the best way!

YOUR SOCIAL SECURITY

By Charles Tinsley

Delaying Your Retirement Brings Higher Social Security Benefits

Reaching 65 years of age may be a significant rung on life's ladder, but it doesn't mean you have to retire and begin collecting your Social Security benefits. Many people choose to extend their working life, and when they delay their retirement they are increasing the amount of the benefit they will eventually receive.

People who continue working beyond age 65 increase their Social Security benefit in the following ways:

•Each additional year you work adds another year of earnings to your Social Security record. Higher life-time earnings result in higher benefits.

•Your benefit is also permanently increased — depending on your age — by a certain percentage when retirement is delayed. For example, a person born in 1928 would increase his or her benefit by 4% each year worked beyond age 65.

Even though you delay your retirement, be sure to contact us to discuss applying for Medicare when you reach age 65. In some circumstances, your Medicare premium will be higher if you delay applying for the medical insurance.

DOODLES FROM THE TALL TIMBER

Wendell L. Hoover Park Interpreter, Hartwick Pines State Park

In the week just past (4th of July) the heat and humidity brought to mind a desperate struggle that took place 130 years ago. I am a re-enactor of the 1700s fur trade, the French and Indian War and the war between the states. On July 3, 1863, my adopted unit, the 14th Tennessee, was marching across a wheatfield in Pennsylvania under the command of General George Pickett. In 1861 the 14th had marched out of Clarksville, Tennessee, just short of 1,000 men and boys in number. By July 3rd their numbers had been reduced to 325. Their battle flag (St. Andrews Cross, The Starry Cross or The Stars and Bars) had been stenciled with the names of five major battles.

When Pickett's charge was over, the flag of the 14th marked the high water point and only three men of the 14th survived. Needless to say, they lost their flag that bloody day and when the 14th surrendered in April, 1865, only 15 of the original unit had survived. So if you see my Starry Cross flying along with a Stars and Stripes, please keep in mind it has nothing to do with racial bias. Those flags represent the love and respect I have for this land called America and for all those who have taken up arms in its behalf.

AISE needs host families

American host families are being sought for high school students from Western and Eastern Europe, Asia,
South America, and Australia for the 1993-94 school year in a program sponsored by the American Intercultural Student Exchange (AISE).

These exceptional students, age 15 through 18, will arrive in the United States in August, attend a local high school, and return to their home countries in June of 1994. The students, all fluent in English, have been carefully screened by the local representatives in their home countries and have their own medical insurance and spending money.

AISE's main focus is teaching young people about the importance of acceptance of other cultures. Cultural exchange is necessary to the continued betterment of civilians as we know it.
Without acceptance of the validity of differing cultures, Americans are in great danger of becoming culturally ignorant.

Don't let this exciting opportunity pass you by. Call 1-800-SIBLING for a free brochure.

Congratulations

A tenth year anniversary congratulations to my sister, Noreen, on her "gift of life" pancreas transplant. I knew you would succeed and I know you'll continue to get healthier with your great determination and strength.
You have many years ahead of you to continue to contribute your knowledge and experience to other diabetics.

I love you,
Darlene
